

GREENHILL

CENTER FOR NORTH CAROLINA ART

SOCIAL NARRATIVE: A VISIT TO GREENHILL

Guide for first-time visitors, families, and visitors with autism or cognitive disabilities

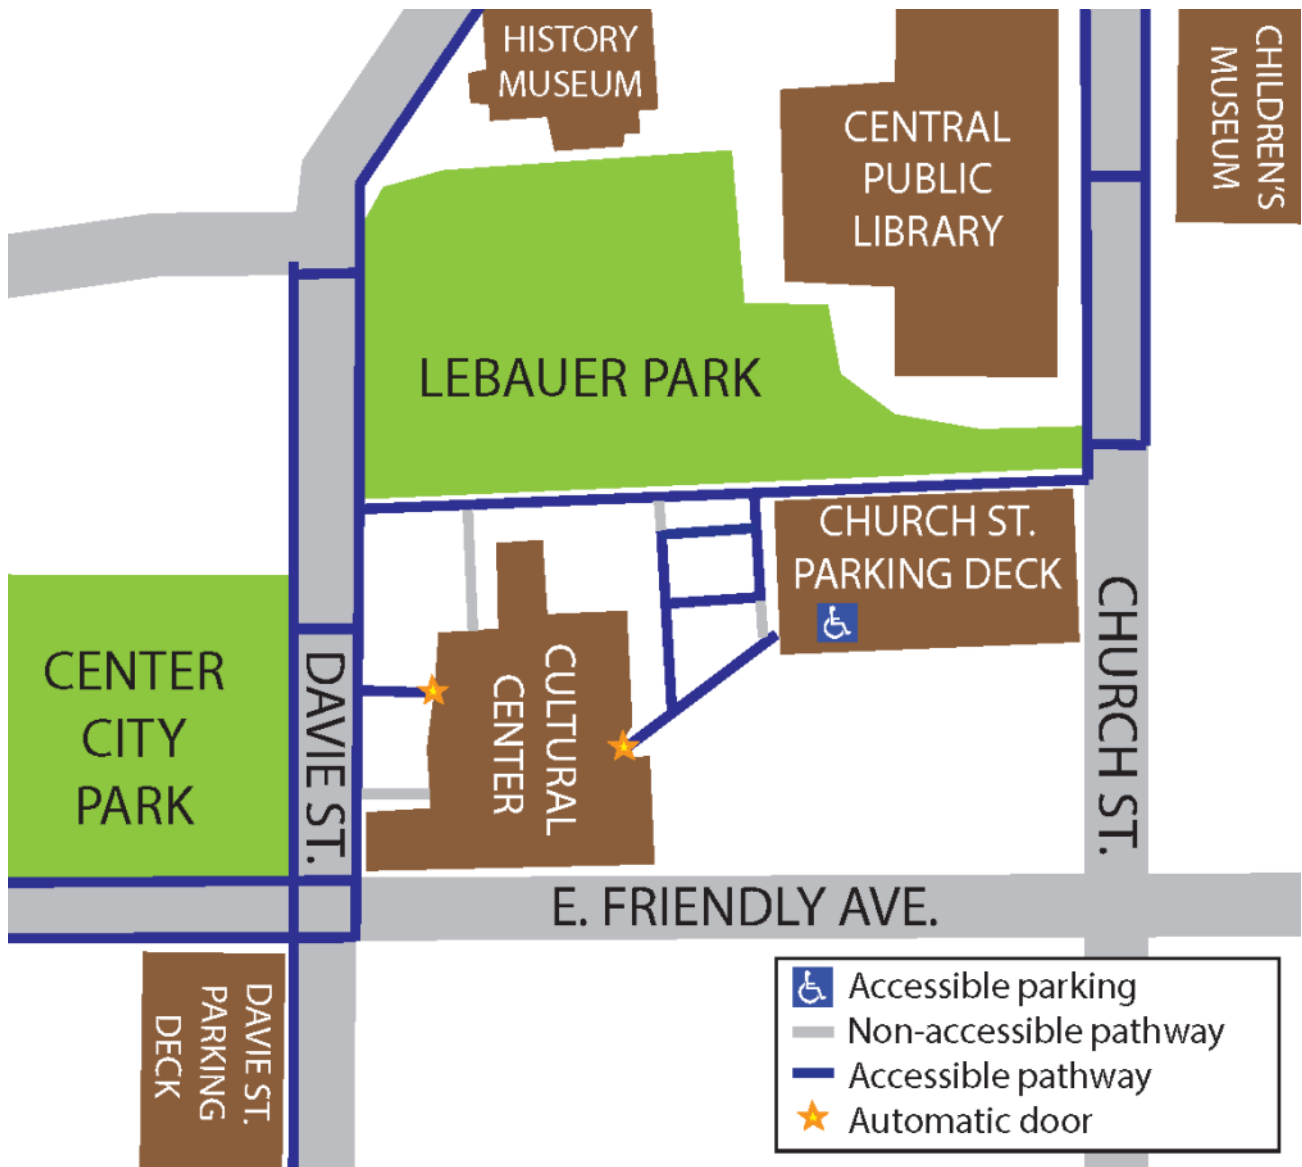

WELCOME

We are going to visit GreenHill Center for North Carolina Art, located in the Greensboro Cultural Center in Downtown Greensboro. You can call it GreenHill for short. GreenHill has a gallery that showcases artwork from North Carolina. There are also studio spaces where you can make art!

ACCESSIBLE PARKING

There is parking nearby GreenHill. There are accessible parking spaces in the Church Street parking deck. After you park, you will take a short walk to the Greensboro Cultural Center. GreenHill is inside!

GREENSBORO CULTURAL CENTER

Inside the Greensboro Cultural Center is where you will find GreenHill, as well as other art galleries, theaters, dance studios, and even Europa Cafe. You can enter the Greensboro Cultural Center through the main entrance off of North Davie Street or the rear entrance from the Church Street parking deck.

GREENHILL

If you enter from the Church Street Parking Garage side of the building, GreenHill will be on the second floor. You can take the stairs or the elevator. When you get to GreenHill you will be greeted by a person sitting at our front desk.

THE STUDIOS

To the left of the front desk are the studios. There are cubbies to place your belongings, smocks to protect your clothes, a studio facilitator, and a family restroom. There are four different rooms to explore. You can find easels to paint on, clay to play with, collage papers in the scrap lab, and relax in the blue nook studio. A family restroom is located in the blue nook studio.

GREENHILL'S SHOP

To the right of the front desk, you will first find the shop. All of the artworks in the shop are made by North Carolina artists, and are for sale. You may touch the art in this room with clean hands if you would like! Once you walk all the way through the shop, you will find doors that lead you into the gallery.

GALLERY

GreenHill hosts several exhibitions each year, so the gallery might look a little different every time you visit. When you walk through the doors to the gallery you will see a black table with information about the exhibition, the artists, and a guestbook to sign. If you have any questions about the art, you can ask the person at the front desk if Edie Carpenter, the gallery curator, is available to give you a tour. Please do not touch the art in this room.

TAKE A BREAK

If you need to take a break, grab some food from a vending machine by the bathrooms or Europa Café. We hope you enjoyed your visit and come back soon!
