

Summer | 2020

A CLEAN, CHIC, AND CLASSIC FRESH START

I'll save you from MOST of the details (I call them enlightening stories teehee) of the penny pinching, bread-baking and dog-rearing that was my quarantine because if you've been following along, you know that I KNOW you were right there chugging along with me!

But you also know that if you put a dramatic, talkative, romantic, introverted, sensitive, empathic and emotional Taurus sun/Gemini moon/Cancer rising like me in quarantine, I'm most certainly going to figure out and rediscover a thing or two about myself and my life during that time- annnd I'm gonna want to talk about it. oops!

In spite of its abundance of negatives, one of the many silver linings I found during March-June 2020 was that for the first time since I started doing make up and working full-time I had a DAMN break. I had to-no, scratch that- I GOT to rest, and do stuff other than... try. I got to just be. I leaned into the pause to look with wide open eyes at myself, my life, and what all has happened. What I have, who I have, who I love and support, and my career. What's been broken, what's being neglected, what has been completely ignored.

I also realized the things in my life that are actually going really, really well. And I got to enjoy most of the things that are the most incredible-right at home. And I know now that I don't need much more than food, my friends, and my family.

It's been infinitely valuable to be able to meditate on my purpose and get honest about my past, present and future. To fully recognize, accept and honor my personal bandwidth, and what I REALLY love about makeup and women and beauty, and my version of self love, and self care.

This time of self reflection has given me answers to numerous questions I've been standing in my way of for years about what I want for me, and for you. It's simple. Connection and transparency are all I crave. Your stories and experiences are what I'm here for. Beauty, art, and sharing authentically about our beautiful stories and experiences together.

I hope your family is healthy and safe and that your summer is abundant with love, life and beauty.

hey, hi, hello! xxoo
